A Message from the CEO

Happy New Year! A new year is symbolic of prosperity or a new start. The beginning of a new year prompts many of us to make resolutions to better ourselves in various areas of our lives, embracing a blank canvas before us. We realize our intrinsic ability to paint the picture of what we envision for our lives. However, the lack of strategic planning can potentially derail the achievement of our resolutions. In order to realize personal and professional success, consider the following:

Goal Setting + Implementation of Action Steps = Success

The way to prosper in the new year is to set goals, formulate detailed action steps and execute the plan. I am expecting our schools to prosper academically this year. It is my hope that we increase academic performance among our students on NWEA Map and STAR assessments, in addition to the Ohio State Tests. I anticipate seeing growth on every school report card, and I believe we can do it! We have a blueprint for success, and proper planning and performance will yield favorable outcomes. This year is our opportunity to demonstrate the capabilities of the students we serve. As a reminder, schools will be held accountable for academic performances this year. I want to motivate you as you motivate teachers and students to exert 100% effort to prosper academically. Reset, refocus and foster the culture of achievement in our schools. Prosperity is ours if we chase it!

Workforce Development

Students who attend EEG-managed high schools not only graduate with a diploma; they are prepared for life. EEG promotes workforce development in all high schools. Students have in their grasp training programs which allow them to hone technical career skills to compete globally.

Our Career Technical Education programming not only prepares them for the workforce, but also provides them with industry credentials which place them on the top of the list for employment upon graduation. Our goal is to empower our students by providing the training and skillset which will be profitable for their lives. We are manifesting the mission of fostering success in our global society. We currently have school alumni actively working in careers with earned credentials from the high schools they attended. Our students are exposed to careers in the following areas: Construction, Electric, STNA, Media Arts, Culinary Arts, Business, Early Childhood Education and Manufacturing. We are cultivating success in our students which will positively reshape our communities.

The House System School Spotlight

School spirit exudes in the halls of Cincinnati Technology Academy (CTA). The energy and enthusiasm are contagious, as the House System is interwoven into the fabric of the school. The faculty, staff and students are owning positive behavior, and there is a noticeable shift. Since CTA's implementation of the House System, the students have coordinated a canned food drive and Christmas give-aways. The houses are now preparing for Black History and Valentine's Day events. Principal Brown is impressed with how students are working together to complete projects. Students are excited to collaborate with others from different houses to achieve a common goal. Keep going, CTA! You are making a difference!
